Amazing! Boy Can Read Up to 40,000 Words Per Minute

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Teachers say a Pittsburgh boy can read 10,000 words a minute, has been clocked at 30,000 on several occasions and once hit 40,000 words per minute.

The ability of Bill Carmack, 17, of the city's Mt. Washington section, was discovered last spring while he was taking a speed reading course at South Hills High School.

In a copyright story today, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette quoted school principal Roy T. Mattern as saying: "He's just one of those people who can glance at a page and tell you what's on it."

Last week Bill demonstrated his reading ability for a reporter. The boy was handed a magazine story about Alexander the Great.

Bill started reading. The reporter opened his notebook to record the time Bill started and the boy said: "I'm finished."

Fifteen seconds had elapsed. The article was 1,500 words long. The boy then correctly summarized Alexander's military strategy and gave two dates correctly.

The 10,000 words a minute is about 40 times faster than normal. At top speed, Bill could breeze through about 50 newspaper columns in one minute.

'Jiggers' Carr Day Scheduled Tuesday

"Jiggers Carr" Day will be observed by the Rotary Club Tuesday at the Salem Golf Club.

Rotarians and guests will tee off at 3 p.m. in several golf events. Prizes will be awarded.

Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Jiggers Carr Day marks the memory of former Salem hardware dealer, Charles "Jiggers" Carr, who was a founder of both the Salem Rotary and golf clubs.

An "apostle" of the theory of relaxation, Mr. Carr died about eight years ago.

Catholic Bureau Drive Under Way

The annual fund drive of the Catholic Service Bureau of Columbiana County is under way.

A total of $25,358.32 was spent in 1962 for operation of the Columbiana County bureau which is located at 544 E. State St.

A temporary office also is maintained at St. Aloysius Rectory in East Liverpool.

Steam-Powered Equipment Used

Threshing Event Attracts 1,000

SUMMITVILLE — Sounds out of America's rural past rang in young, unaccustomed ears Saturday, but to old-time, retired farmers of the area it was real music. These were the sounds of well-preserved steam engines and steam-operated equipment going through their paces at the Harry Rogers farm here.

This third annual threshing and baling exhibition, sponsored by Rogers and using his equipment, attracted 1,000 persons by actual count. Besides local visitors, spectators came from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio to attend the seven-hour event starting at 10 a.m.

An 1891 Groon engine was used to operate a hand-fed threshing machine with wooden measuring boxes, a rare sight. Rogers bought this equipment from J. M. Huston of Negley, an 84-year-old steam engine fan who attended.

Also on view was a 1924 Baker engine that kept a self-feeder in operation, and a stationary baler operated by a Frick steam engine. All the engines are fired by either wood or coal.

Four hundred sixty bushels of wheat and oats were threshed with the assistance of Rogers' sons, Earl, Fred and Homer, all of the area, and his two sons-in-law, Perry McKarns of here and Howard Bailey of Winona. Four grandsons helped, too, along with some neighbors who took turns at pitching sheaves and stacking bales.

Many years of life was represented by the old-timers who attended. Besides Rogers, 75, and Huston, 84, spectators include John Adams, 92 of Louisville; Orin Kibler 81, of Kensington; W. W. Crubaugh, 87, of Lisbon; A. J. Frischkorn, 74, of Wellsville.

A special feature was the operation of a 108-year-old shingle-making machine owned by John Sell of RD Lisbon, and powered by a portable, six horsepower Case steam engine owned by Earl Hamilton of near Lisbon.

The crowds admired the oxen, including a double yoke shown by Van Swickard of Toronto, who had the animals hitched to an 1837 Conestoga wagon, made in Cadiz, which used to haul supplies and passengers from that city to the east coast, and a yoke of Jersey oxen owned by J. H. Beal of Hanoverton and hitched to a small cart.

Rogers, who threshed for 42 years before quitting in 1954, said he and his wife plan to hold another threshing event next year.

17 Graduate From School Of Nursing

"I will use to their fullest, but never try to exceed, my skills as a practical nurse."

This is part of the nurses' pledge recited Sunday when 17 were graduated from the Hanna E. Mullins School of Practical Nursing in ceremonies held at the Memorial Building.

Mrs. Evelyn E. French of Minerva and Miss Janet L. McFerrer of Toronto graduated with honors. Mrs. French was cited for having the highest scholastic achievement while Miss McFerrer displayed the highest degree of nursing proficiency.

Atty. John O. Beck of Lisbon, chairman of the advisory committee, presided at the graduation. Robert F. Rice, Salem City Hospital administrator, gave the address.

Marie G. Durand, director of the school, presented the class and announced the award winners. Katherine Gibson, co-founder of the school, presented the diplomas while Esther Chamberlain, acting director of nursing service, gave the congratulations.

The class sang "I Believe" and "This Is My Country." Rev. Daniel Keister of the Salem English Trinity Lutheran Church gave the invocation and benediction.

Graduates besides Mrs. French and Miss McFerrer were Mrs. Kathryn Baldwin of Beaver, Pa.; Miss Nada Clough of Alliance; Miss Loretta Conrad of Washington; Miss Susan Earnest of Atwater; Miss Karen Foster of Alliance.

Miss Carolyn Irwin of Massillon, Miss Annette Lauener of Alliance, Miss Linda McCormack of Perry, Miss Martha Messenheimer of Alliance, Miss Mary Messenheimer of Alliance, Miss Judy

4 Killed In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Officials took extraordinary steps today to head off any new racial violence in bomb-shaken Birmingham after a dynamite blast killed four Negro girls, caused hours of terror and brought outraged protests from national Negro leaders.

The U. S. Justice Department sent in three top officials and a force of FBI agents with bomb experts. City officials joined with church leaders in a special telecast, urging citizens to be calm. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a Negro leader, flew into town to urge Negroes to be nonviolent—just as he did in May when the bombing of a Negro motel touched off rioting by Negroes.

National Guardsmen were into town at the request of Mayor Albert Boutwell.

Sunday Morning Blast
The Sunday morning blast at the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church occurred during a youth program at the church where numerous desegregation meetings have been held.

It killed the four young girls

Police Act To Halt Violence

and injured 23 others. Within a few hours, two Negro boys were shot to death in other parts of the city, and three other persons were wounded.

"Today has been the most frightening in the history of Birmingham," said Sheriff Melvin Bailey as violence continued breaking out despite pleas for peace.

Not since integration leader Medgar Evers was shot to death at his home in Jackson, Miss., in June has the nation's Negro community reacted so strongly to racial violence.

Negro leaders called for strong federal action.

The blast was the worst of numerous bombings and other violence since Negroes began campaigning in April for desegregation.

They achieved public school integration. Its beginning last week brought some student boycotts and protests. Gov. Wallace earlier sought to block the integration, but was stymied by federal intervention.

This tense city spent a long, fearful day and night after Sunday's blast. Several fires broke out, rocks were thrown by Negroes in various sections and gunfire was reported.

Sunday school classes at the church were just ending a lesson on "The love that forgives" when the explosion ripped out concrete, metal and glass.

The four girls apparently were in the lounge in the basement of the old brick church. One, Cynthia Wesley, 14, was hit by the full force of the blast and could be identified only by clothing and a ring.

The others were Carol Robertson and Addie Mae Collins, 14, and Denise McNair, 11.

Even as officers were roping off a two-block area around the church — the starting place for many of the desegregation demonstrations earlier this year—civil and church leaders were crying for peace and nonviolence.

But there was no peace. Two white youths fatally shot a 13-year-old Negro boy, policemen shot to death a 16-year-old Negro and two white men were wounded by Negroes, one in a robbery attempt.

Police were kept on the run for hours investigating reports of outbreaks.

The state troopers came in, the FBI launched its probe and U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy sent three top aides, Burke Marshall, Joseph Dolan and John Nolan.

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, telegraphed President Kennedy:

"Unless some immediate steps are taken by the federal government to restore a sense of confidence in the protection of life, limb and property...we shall see in Birmingham and Alabama the worst racial holocaust the nation has ever seen."

The executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Roy Wilkins, wired the President from New York that unless the federal government offers more than "pity and piecemeal aid against this type of bestiality," Negroes will "employ such methods as our desperation may dictate in defense of the lives of our people."

Bomb blasts aren't new to Birmingham Negroes, but bomb deaths are.

Twenty-two times in the past eight years, explosions have been directed at Negroes here. Sunday's was the first one that killed. In none of the blasts has

'Rocky' Speaks On Nomination

Says Remarriage
Hurt His Chances

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says it's "realistic" to look upon his remarriage as seriously damaging his chance for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

"I have a very deep understanding of the reactions of individuals in this situation," he said Sunday night in a television interview—NBC's "Meet the Press." "I have no sense but one of feeling for people's concern."

"I think it is a situation which in political life is difficult."

He expanded his views further today in an interview in U.S. News & World Report. Commenting on his divorce and remarriage he said:

"I think that the reaction on that subject is a highly personal one with all people. Until such time as there is an occasion where they have to make a decision, it's hard to tell exactly what that reaction will be."

"But when an individual has to make a decision, whether it's in a convention or in the voting booth, the I think that he will bring that factor, along with all of the other factors, into balance and make a decision. The collective effort of all the people's decisions would, of course, give the answer."

He noted that the Gallup Poll now has Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the lead for the nomination, but said he believes someone else could end up with the big prize.

As for Goldwater, the Arizona said in an AP interview that if he decides to go after the presidential nomination, one of the main reasons would be his belief that as head of the ticket he could help Republicans get elected to the House and Senate in the South, Midwest and West.

"Win, lose or draw, if I were the nominee, I believe I could help get a lot of Republicans

Sparkman Asks Pact Approval

Says Nuclear War
Other Alternative

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. Sparkman called today for Senate ratification of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, warning "if this treaty doesn't work, then a future nuclear war will in all probability 'solve' all our problems."

Sparkman, Alabama Democrat who is a senior member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, made his appeal as the Senate resumed debate on the pact which would ban all but underground nuclear testing.

As the historic debate moved into its second week, the votes of only 11 of the 100 senators remained on the doubtful or undecided list. Thirteen senators have announced their opposition to the treaty and 76 are committed to or are inclined to vote for ratification.

A two-thirds majority is required for approval. If all 100 senators should vote, and that is unlikely since Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif. is ill, 67 favorable votes would be needed for ratification.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana ordered overtime sessions in an effort to accommodate more than 20 senators who still want to make floor speeches on the treaty. Eleven want to speak today, 10 more on Tuesday.

Mansfield indicated he did not think the oratory would change many votes.

Much of Sparkman's prepared address centered on replying to a series of questions raised a week ago by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine. She is listed in the doubtful vote column.

Sparkman said "there are no single factual answers available to most of the questions posed. There are only speculative answers, but answers with high probabilities, based on interpretation of available fact."

"Final resolution of most of the senator's questions would

Quintuplets Doing Fine

Doctor Says Chances for Survival Are Great

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — The Fischer quintuplets, very tiny but extremely vigorous, rounded out their first 48 hours of life early today with good prospects for survival.

The babies born to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer early Saturday were reported doing fine.

Dr. James Berbos, who delivered ed the infants, said they were going strong on a diet of sugar water and may be switched to something heavier today, like a milk formula.

Late Sunday, Dr. Berbos reported that the four girls and a boy were being fed about four cubic centimeters of sugar water every two hours.

Berbos, who has delivered 3,607 children in his 16 years as a physician, said both mother and children were doing extremely well. The first 72 hours were considered to be the most dangerous for the newborn quints, but there was no sign of trouble.

Gifts of money and merchandise continued to pour in for the family and Dr. Berbos added one of his own.

"I don't think I'll charge them anything," Berbos said. He indicated that St. Luke's Hospital, where the infants were born, also would forget about a bill.

Dr. Berbos told a news conference that he hadn't delivered any more babies since the birth of the quintuplets.

Looking at a score of newsmen crowded into the hospital lounge, Berbos smiled and said: "They've all been scared off."

Fischer and three of his other five children attended Mass Sunday at Sacred Heart Roman

Auto Crashes Into Tree

Alliance Motorist Killed In Mishap

A 40-year-old Stark County man was killed Sunday night on Bedell Rd. near Berlin Reservoir when his car struck a tree at 7:05 p.m.

The victim, John W. Mauk of 14755 Wilson Ave., NE, Alliance, was dead on arrival at Youngstown Southside Hospital. He suffered a crushed chest and lacerations of the head.

Patrolman R. S. Cuddy of the Canfield state highway patrol post said Mauk, who was alone, was driving south on Bedell Rd. when the mishap occurred 2.5 miles north of Route 224. Mauk was turning left around a curve when the auto went off the right side of the road. The 1955 Mercury coach veered back across the road, went off the left side and struck the tree.

This was the 13th fatal accident investigated by the Canfield barracks this year.

An East Palestine man was hospitalized after his auto overturned Sunday morning at 3:40 on Route 14, about a mile west of Route 165, William McMillan Jr., 34, was taken to Salem City Hospital with abrasions of the chest, multiple lacerations of the right hand and possible internal injuries. He is in poor condition.

The Lisbon patrol reported McMillan's car ran off the right side of the highway, struck some mailboxes and rolled over.

A Salem youth escaped injury when he ditched his car trying to avoid a collision Sunday at 4:50

Pulitzer Prize Winner Talks At AP Confab

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The current racial situation is a "national convulsion which has no easy or quick solution," according to Relman Morin, Pulitzer Prize-winning Associated Press reporter.

Morin spoke to about 60 newspaper editors—one of the largest turnouts in years — at the fall meeting of the Associated Press Society of Ohio Sunday. He said newspapers are in a position to evenly examine racial issues both nationally and in their communities.

Morin has been studying and writing about the racial problem for nine years. He said the most difficult problem recently was in the Northern cities.

"In the South you can do something... integrate schools and lunch counters... something that Negroes can see progress being made, but in the North it is a matter of jobs and housing," he said.

"I think more and more employers in the North will come under pressure to hire Negroes who may not be qualified for specific jobs," Morin remarked. In many cases, he said, Negroes are not taking advantage of educational and economic opportunities which now are available.

Morin said in a question-and-answer period that he felt the South was inflamed against President Kennedy. "Today, I don't think Kennedy would carry one state in the South, with the possible exception of Georgia—regardless of who ran against him."

The talk by Morin concluded the two-day meeting of AP member editors, who were guests of the Canton Repository. Dick McCann, director of the newly opened National Professional Football Hall of Fame, spoke to the editors Saturday night, and they toured the Hall of Fame Sunday.

State X-Ray Unit Will Visit City

For the first time in two years, a mobile unit will be in Salem to give free X-rays to the general public.

Dr. R. T. Holzbach, city health commissioner, said the white trailer for the Ohio Department of Health will arrive in Salem for a four-day visit in October to X-ray persons over 18 years of age.

Hours will be: Oct. 7, 3-9 p.m.; Oct. 8, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Oct. 9, 1-7 p.m.; Oct. 10, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The unit, manned by state and city health workers, will be stationed on S. Broadway in front of Strouss-Hirschberg's.

Monday was chosen as an opportune time to begin the X-rays because large crowds are generally in the downtown district when stores are open until 9 that night.

The last time the X-ray unit visited the city, in 1961, a total of 1,910 persons participated.

30 Days to Better Grades

Many Find Math Hardest

By The Reading Laboratory, Inc.

We've saved mathematics until now, because for many students it's the toughest subject in school. The feeling seems to be that anybody can learn to pass English or history, but that you have to be especially suited for mathematics, that you have to have a special kind of mind.

This is not true. You don't have to be special to get through the average math course. If you're having trouble, chances are you're studying the wrong way. Which brings up the question: what is mathematics? What does it try to do?

MATHEMATICS IS A logical, contentless, but often very meaningful system of thought. Let's take a simple example: 2 plus 2 equals 4. That is always correct, but do you know why? 2 plus 2 equals 4 because mathematicians say so!

In other words, mathematicians have defined "2 plus 2" as "4". That's why they can't be wrong; there's nothing to be wrong about. So actually, the statement "2 plus 2 equals 4" says about as much as the statement, "a big book is a big book."

WE CAN SAY, THEN, that mathematics is contentless. But once we have these always-correct, contentless, laws, we can apply them to our daily lives and often we find them very useful and meaningful. Nobody will argue that addition isn't useful and meaningful.

It's easy to see that mathematics is logical. If we say that 1 plus 1 equals 2 and 2 plus 2 equals 4, we have no choice but to say that 1 plus 1 plus 1 plus 1 equals 4. There's no other way to do it. Any other way would be illogical. And mathematics insists on logic.

ESSENTIALLY, THEN, mathematics is simply a set of symbols that somebody (centuries of mathematicians actually) invented. They also invented certain rules for manipulating these symbols. As long as you follow these rules, you can't do anything wrong. If you follow the rules (and there are not many of them), the world's greatest mathematician can't tell you that you're wrong.

By itself, mathematics has nothing to do with reality. Its usefulness comes from the fact that we can think about the real world in a mathematical way and thereby understand it better.

OBVIOUSLY, YOU wouldn't try to overview a math book. It doesn't work. To learn the rules of mathematics, you have to go step by step. You have to "read between the commas." You'll find that every rule in math is based on the one that directly preceded it. If you don't understand something, you can't hope that it'll come clear later on. You must understand each step before you can understand the next step. Take each page as it comes. Work through the page point by point. Work through any examples. You'll get into the swing of it easily. The most complex mathematical laws are only repeated applications of the simplest laws.

Think of mathematics this way: it's the only course where you can really be sure of getting 100 on a test. If you follow the mathematical rules, you can't get anything but 100.

The trick is to go slow, to understand each point before you go on to the next and to see how each rule follows from the one that precedes it.

(NEXT: How to prepare for tests.)

HONEY, We're In Luck!

Sue and I were just discussing the coming winter and how we dreaded to see it come after all our heating trouble last year. Furniture Drawers Subject To Several Pesky Disorders Furniture drawers, though basically simple, are subject to pesky disorders.

The most common complaint: sticking. Drawer pulls often become loose and, if not taken care of quickly, will cause marring of the drawer's surface finish. With age, the joints of a drawer may loosen.

The problem of a sticking drawer is most likely to occur in warm weather. Generally, drawers are made of soft wood and left unfinished. Moist air will cause the wood to swell. Drawers that work well all winter may do so only because the air is relatively dry.

SLIGHT STICKING CAN be cured at times with nothing more than the rubbing of paraffin or a lubricating stick over the sliding parts.

If this doesn't do it, sand the sliding parts until the drawer opens and closes smoothly. If there is severe rubbing and sanding won't correct it, you may have to plane these parts.

Warm, dry air may cause the wood to shrink later on, and a drawer may then develop a wobble.

Don't force a drawer that is stuck. And don't fool with makeshift repairs. Get at the problem by removing the back covering of the piece of furniture.

THE BACKS OF MOST bureaus are held on with screws or small nails.

You may be able to maneuver the drawer a little better from in back.

If it remains jammed, and if you can't remove contents through a partial opening, better call on a carpenter to free the drawer. Applying heat to dry the drawer is a pretty risky business. Don't try it. (If you're the patient type leave the drawer alone till it dries out, and then remove it for repairs.)

You can help minimize future swelling of wood by giving the surface of the drawer a coat of shellac. Allow drawer to dry thoroughly before replacing it. This will prevent penetration of moisture.

SOMETIMES A DRAWER won't open because of loosened joints. Examine the drawer for unglued joints, loose nails or a bottom that has come out of its grooves.

Remove nails and clean off glue. Reglue and use larger nails. The bottom of the drawer should never be glued in place. It should be left free to expand and contract.

Drawer pulls should be checked frequently for tightness. Those applied with a nut and bolt can be tightened easily. If there are not enough threads on the bolt to tighten the nut any more, place a couple of washers on the bolt.

Pulls attached with screws run into the wood loosen as the hole enlarges. Fill the hole with plastic wood and start again.

Spot Checks You Can Make To Keep Car In A-1 Shape

Today's modern autos need less service. Self-adjusting brakes, self lubrication and fewer oil changes present fewer opportunities for a trained mechanic to spot trouble before it starts.

Get in the habit, however, of having brake linings inspected when you have your car in for other servicing.

While regular inspection by a professional is important, there are also items which you can check yourself and which you should check often.

LIFT THE HOOD occasionally and check the condition of the fan belt. A loose belt means faulty generator operation and inefficient cooling. There should be play of half-an-inch but be sure to read your operator's guide for complete instructions.

Make certain that belt is not frayed or showing signs of breaking.

Check the radiator. Water that is rusty or coated with scum should be flushed out and replaced. An accumulation of dirt can cause overheating.

The air passages in the radiator or core should be kept clean. Chances are the passages are covered with leaves, dead bugs and dirt, unless radiator has been cleaned recently.

WHEN YOU WASH THE car, direct a stream of water through the radiator core from inside, if possible, so that the water and dirt that come out are not sprayed over the engine.

Do not overfill radiator, battery or gas tank in hot weather. An overflowing radiator adds to the loss brought on by evaporation. Though water evaporates faster from a battery during hot weather, overfilling can also cause trouble. Spilling-over brings on loss of the electrolyte and causes corrosion.

If you've ever parked your car in the hot sun after getting the tank filled, you've probably come back to find gasoline on the pavement. Fill the tank while you still have some driving ahead of you so that you can lower the level of the fuel without waste.

WHEN YOU CHECK tire pressure, do it while the tires are cool. If you've been driving, let the car stand a few hours. Heat builds up pressure inside tires.

Resist the temptation to bleed some of the air out when tires are hot. Better stop and let them cool off, then check the pressure. Releasing air while tires are hot may leave them dangerously underinflated when they cool.

After a long, hot drive, give your engine a chance to cool off by idling it a little before turning it off. This draws off some of the heat, and helps prevent vapor lock and damage to engine parts.

School Bus Inspection Set Sept. 23

School buses in Columbiana County will be inspected by the Highway Patrol beginning Sept. 23 it was announced today by Sergeant E. W. Mallory of the Lisbon Highway Patrol Post.

The sergeant said Patrolmen E. D. Wain and R. D. Delagrang of the post will conduct the inspections which will follow a schedule approved by local school authorities.

All buses will be checked thoroughly to determine if they meet all safety requirements. Each bus is checked for 32 important equipment, mechanical and safety items. All corrections cited as necessary must be made within three days. Major safety items must be corrected immediately.

Those buses approved will be issued a safety certificate that will be displayed on the windshield of the bus. Those not approved will not display a safety certificate until all defects noted by the inspecting officer are corrected.

In addition to checking the safety requirements of the buses, all drivers will be checked for their annual physical fitness certificates and their special school bus operator's licenses. Every driver must meet rigid physical requirements before he is permitted to drive a school bus.

Of 139 buses inspected in Columbiana County last year, 73 were found in need of correction and/or adjustments before they met requirements and were issued safety certificates.

With the announcement of the inspection schedule, Sgt. Mallory also reminded motorists of the state's school bus law requiring all traffic to stop at least ten feet from the front or rear of a bus loading or unloading passengers.

The only exception is when the bus is operating on a four-lane divided highway. Then traffic approaching the bus from the opposite direction is not required to stop.

High Flying And Low Politics

Rep. Vanik's accusation against the Timken Roller Bearing Co. in connection with Sen. Goldwater's flight to Cleveland last Monday is an example of politics at its very lowest, ebb.

Democratic Rep. Vanik's idea, of course, was to embarrass the Republican senator and his friend who provided the transportation. He tried to make a tax case out of it. It turned out, however—and it now appears that Rep. Vanik should have known it—that a personally owned plane, not a company plane, made the flight.

Mr. Vanik's criticism left him wide open for a blow against the Democrats by Sen. Goldwater for the very same thing—namely President Kennedy's profligate use of taxpayer-provided transportation.

Most Americans have not voiced serious criticism against the President's need for adequate transportation. But the fact remains, as Sen. Goldwater pointed out, that Mr. Kennedy and his family and friends continually use, at taxpayers' expense, an $8 million jet plane, three other jets, 10 helicopters, an Air Force DC-8, a 21-foot automobile, a special railroad car and a couple of yachts. They are used for political, as well as official, business.

The President also has other Air Force planes for his use to serve him when he's vacationing.

So here is Sen. Goldwater, an Air Force Reserve general, being criticized, along with his friend, for using the friend's private plane in which no tax deduction is involved.

Rep. Vanik should be shrewder than to lay himself open for a rebuttal such as occurred last week.

Going Through the Motions

The United States—that's our Uncle Sam, baseball fans—is going through the motions of finishing a lost ball game in South Viet

Typhoon Warning

An announcement that Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, sister-in-law of South Viet Nam's bachelor president, Ngo Dinh Diem, plans to visit the United States next month must have hit Washington with the impact of an H-bomb.

This is the lady whose pictures and opinion have been making more news than those of President Diem—the lady whose dynamic personality and hard-nosed convictions about public affairs are dominating the politics of South Viet Nam.

She is the highly photogenic Asiatic female whose picture has caused millions of American men to revise their notion of what it would be like to become an outcast in Saigon and vicinity.

She is the internationally potent individual whose clenched-fist ideas about coping with recalcitrant Buddhists finally bugged our own President Kennedy into saying out loud he wished her brother-in-law would send her on a trip around the world.

She promises to be the biggest thing if she actually shows up in this country since Madame Chiang Kai-shek, youngest of the famous Soong girls, who once took the United States by storm, thanks to her intellect and charm.

Typhoon warnings should go up immediately. Remembering how that other Asiatic lady captivated us once she arrived on the scene, we think it already may be too late.

Sons of Casper

By Truman Twill

When I was a very small skinkint of a towheaded kid in the early grades of grammar school, an overgrown slob named Willie mashed me in the chops one morning recess. No provocation. The goon just clobbered me. I never had a chance.

I scattered the playground with blood from the cuts my teeth made in my lip and I can remember that the blow also bent my little eyeglasses.

This was my first encounter with reality, so help me, I having been hand-raised by a genteel lady who continued to tell me to turn the other cheek, which in general is what I have continued to do while an endless chain of Willies mashed me.

ON OCCASIONS when I have compared notes with others hand-raised by genteel ladies, I have learned the same doubts have entered their minds.

Is this the way Papa Joe Kennedy got started?

Is this how Frankie Sinatra got where he is today?

Is this the way Sonny Liston earns more money for one match than most of us pacifists earn in a lifetime?

Is this the way to grow 10 feet tall and become a public figure?

Is this the path to being chairman of the board, head of the union, leader of the pack and the home town boy who made good?

Is this the way to make others call you

"Mister" and to convince politicians they'd better ask for your views on public issues?

THE ANSWER is No.

Neither is it the way to persuade recalcitrant race supremacists to give Negroes their guaranteed civil rights, to say nothing of social rights.

Nor is it the way to squeeze a raise out of the people who hold the purse-strings and have important things to do with their money.

Nor the way to persuade authority to listen to what you have to say.

Nor to make other people in gray flannel look less promising than you look.

Nor to keep from being elbowed out of waiting lines at ticket counters.

Nor to command respect and be acknowledged as the leader of the rat pack if the chips go down.

THERE IS only one thing to be said for it. It's the only way we know because it's the only way we ever learned — we the progeny of Casper Milquetoast.

We get mashed in the mouth, gouged in the eye, kicked in the shins, elbowed, side-tracked buried alive cheated, reviled and dealt with as the hoi polloi but if we tried to be any other way we'd be as bad as the goons our mothers despised when they were raising us for a world that never was.

What Caused the Kennedy-'Scoop' Jackson Split?

By VICTOR WILSON

Perhaps the most intriguing current political question in this politics-saturated capital is: What DID cause the split between JFK and "Scoop"?

JFK, of course, is President Kennedy. "Scoop" is Sen. Henry Martin Jackson, D-Wash., one of his party's highly rated and more competent men on Capitol Hill.

This question has been asked, off and on, without satisfactory answer, since January, 1961, when Sen. Jackson quit as chairman of the Democratic National Committee. He was one of the shortest tenures on record. He'd been named to the post at the Democratic National convention which nominated Mr. Kennedy at Los Angeles the previous July.

New pique over the question when the Western senator became one of the more pointed critics of the Kennedy Administration's proposed nuclear test-ban treaty.

SOME SAW this as a direct slap at the President, certainly a wrong evaluation, since Sen. Jackson is not the type to let pique replace principle.

On the reputed split, the White House remains silent. Sen. Jackson himself told a reporter recently there isn't any. If, he added, one checked his voting record for him, angry at the President or not.

Sen. Jackson then told the reporter something more meaty: There are, he declared, certain people around the White House who would like to promote a break between the President and himself. He then turned to other things, naming no one.

The record will show however, that if Sen. Jackson is nursing hurt feelings toward Mr. Kennedy, he has some reasons. Perhaps No. 1 stems from that Los Angeles convention. The senator certainly had been led to believe he was the first choice for second place on a ticket with Mr. Kennedy. (It turned out later that some others were led to the same belief.) But the then Senate Democratic majority leader, Lyndon B. Johnson, copped the prize.

Sen. Jackson called a press conference to confide to reporters his disappointment at being side-tracked. It's not known but a good guess the Democratic National chairmanship was meant to assuage his feelings. As it turned out, Mr. Kennedy's brother, Bobby, now attorney general, really ran both the National Committee and the subsequent Kennedy presidential campaign. Sen. Jackson was virtually ignored. He quit the chairmanship as soon as he decently could. Still another point is cited: Bachelor Jackson on Dec. 16, 1961, surprised many by marrying the former Helen Eugenia Hardin. It was her second marriage at 28; her new husband then was 49. This unexpected happy event certainly called for festivities for the newlyweds in vibrant New Frontier circles. But they never occurred.

IT'S NICE, and politically helpful, too, for a senator to be on good terms with the White House's occupant if the latter is of the same party, but Sen. Jackson has managed pretty much on his own here, 12 in the House, and now somewhat over halfway through his second six-year Senate term. Presumably he can continue to do so.

He comes of fiercely independent stock. Both parents were born in Norway and settled in Everett, Wash., still the senator's hometown. He attended Everett's public schools, then worked his way through both the college and law school of the University of Washington.

The county's predominant population of fishermen and loggers, of Scandinavian extraction, liked his performance and elected the 28-year-old Democrat to the 77th Congress in November, 1940. He won his first Senate term on Nov. 4, 1952, one of only two Democratic Senate candidates successful in the Eisenhower sweep.

Debt Ceiling Gambit

By JOSEPH R. SLEVIN

House Republican leaders are laying careful plans to get extra mileage out of the debt limit issue.

Their strategy calls for barring part of the $11 billion tax cut unless the administration holds the net public debt under $303 billion.

The GOP lawmakers figure that they can use the debt ceiling to dramatize President Kennedy's "Fiscal irresponsibility." They complain that he is urging Congress to vote a tax cut without simultaneously reducing federal spending.

It's a familiar gambit. The Democrats repeatedly used the debt ceiling to embarrass the Eisenhower administration when such stalwart fiscal conservatives as George M. Humphrey and Robert B. Anderson were running the Treasury.

The Republicans have been returning tit for tat—with the enthusiastic help of conservative Democrats — by granting only skinny, temporary debt ceiling laws since May and will have to approve yet another before the end of November.

SECRETARIES Humphrey and Anderson considered the debt ceiling a piece of time-consuming nonsense. Secretary Douglas Dillon does too; but the congressional conservatives are not about to remove the ceiling even though it forces the Treasury into costly and inefficient debt management operations.

The new tax bill scheme is a modification of a Republican amendment that lost on a close 13-12 vote in the House Ways and Means Committee last month. Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, the ranking Republican member of the Ways and Means group, will offer the proposal when the bill reaches the House floor after mid-September.

Mr. Byrnes and his colleagues intend to keep their motion simple. In its present form, it provides that a scheduled $3 billion individual income tax cut will be withheld if the net debt totals more than $303 billion on June 30, 1964.

The Ways and Means bill calls for cutting individual income taxes $6 billion on Jan. 1, 1964 and $3 billion on Jan. 1, 1965. The GOP motion would not affect either the first cut or an accompanying $2 billion two-stage, corporate income tax reduction.

Some Republicans think the Byrnes group is playing with dynamite. They fear that the GOP will be held responsible if the debt is over $303 billion on the deadline date—and the voters lose a $3 billion bonanza.

But the sponsors figure that they will get valuable political mileage from the move and argue that the voters will blame Mr. Kennedy for failing to keep the debt within the ceiling.

The administration is dead set against the amendment and will fight hard to kill it in the House. Economists and many businessmen are on the administration's side.

ONE OBVIOUS technical objection is that the Republicans are relying on the Treasury's current forecast of tax receipts in setting their ceiling and those forecasts are notoriously bad. The Treasury has managed to come within $1 billion of the actual revenues only three times in the last dozen years.

Another difficulty is that the ceiling could neutralize the stimulus that the tax bill is supposed to give to economic activity.

Businessmen like to know what the country's tax load and economic prospects will be when they make spending and investment plans. But the debt limit amendment would inject a disturbing element of uncertainty by arousing doubts that consumers will get their $3 billion, second-stage tax cut.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

School of Experience

Dear Ann: May I have just a few inches of your valuable newspaper space to get across a point I had to learn the hard way?

It's simply this: The wife who chews at her husband, nags and criticizes him will surely drive him away. No wife ever got love or attention by demanding it.

I married at 19 — and there was no greener, more stupid, self-centered girl in the world than I was. My husband was an attractive, somewhat serious type who was struggling in the academic field. I felt he was not paying enough attention to me and I accused him of being unfaithful.

I kept him up late at night, questioning, arguing and attacking. He seldom answered, nor did he attempt to defend himself. One day he quietly told me that I had completely destroyed his love for me and suggested that I file suit for a divorce. I was certain he had another woman (I was wrong) and we split up.

Now eight years later I'm 80 years wiser. I'm about to marry a perfectly wonderful man and this time I am going to make home a comfortable and delightful place to be. A place where he will find joy, contentment and peace. — LESSON LEARNED.

Dear Lesson: Thanks for sharing your experience with us. Yours is a letter which should be clipped and referred to often by young wives who are having husband trouble.

Three hundred big business leaders from all over the country are expected to attend a White House Conference on Export Expansion Sept. 17-18.

If they can solve in two days all the balance of payments deficit problems assigned to them, it will be the nearest trick of that or any week. But they'll try.

The two working sessions of the conference, Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning, will be broken up into 11 groups of 20 to 30 businessmen each. One government expert will be assigned to each panel to get it any information wanted and to explain existing government policies and legislative proposals.

But the big idea is to have the businessmen themselves come up with new ideas which might be the basis of revised foreign trade policies. Existing policies haven't worked.

THE GOOD SIDE of the situation faced is that U.S. exports have increased 50 per cent in the last 12 years. In 1951 they totaled $14 billion. In 1962, they were $20.9 billion and for the first half of 1963 the annual rate was $21.5 billion.

But this growth rate isn't considered fast enough. For a large part of this increase was foreign aid. And in the same period the U.S. balance of payments deficit has increased by $30 billion. It averaged $1.5 billion a year, 1950-56, but was $4.2 billion in 1962, with $4.5 indicated for 1963.

THE 11 AREAS the conference panels will explore for possible remedies, and the group chairmen are:

Tax policies—William E. Knox, Westinghouse, New York. Labor's stake—George Meany, AFL-CIO, Washington. Trade promotion—Roger P. Sonnabend, Hotel Corp. of America, Boston. Foreign investment—Percy L. Douglas, Otis Elevator, New York. Financing—W. Cordes Snyder, Blaw-Knox, Pittsburgh. Market research—R. A. Steudel, Sherwin Williams, Cleveland. Government representation abroad—James M. Roche, General Motors, New York. Small business — Thomas C. Ballagh, Ballagh & Thrall, Philadelphia. Education and publicity—Charles Rumrill, Rumrill Co., Rochester. Trade negotiations—Carl J. Gilbert, Gillette Co., Boston. Antitrust aspects—Alonso B. Knight, Borg-Warner, Chicago.

The high caliber of these panel heads indicates this is to be a working session and not the usual Department of Commerce ballyhoo over its trade fairs, centers and missions.

Each panel will write its own report on the afternoon of the second day. They will then be summarized for a general report and press conference conducted by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY, followed by his Secretaries of State Rusk, Treasury Dillon, Agriculture Freeman and Labor Wirtz, will address the opening session. Trade czar Christian A. Herter will talk about his troubles in negotiating new tariff agreements with Common Market and other countries at the first luncheon session. House Committee Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., will speak at the second.

Vice chairmen and working heads of the conference will be Neil C. Hurley Jr., Thor Power Tool Co., Chicago; Fred C. Foy of Koppers Co., Pittsburgh, and Thomas B. Watson Jr., IBM New York.

Centennial of President Harding's Birth To Be Celebrated In 1965

By ALLAN BOVEY
Marion Star Staff Writer
MARION, Ohio (AP)—Scholars are taking new and deeper looks into the life of an Ohio man who became the nation's 29th president — Warren Gamaliel Baughman Harding.

"WG," as he came to be known, was born Nov. 2, 1891, in what was then Corsica, Morrow County, now Blooming Grove.

He left school at 16 to go to work, subsequently resumed his formal education and earned a Bachelor of Science degree from now-defunct Ohio Central College in Iberia.

At length he became editor and publisher of what is now the Marion Star. He tossed his hat into the political ring by being elected to the Ohio Senate in 1904 and later became the nation's 29th chief executive, the first editor ever to hold the office and the sixth tenant of the White House to be chosen from the Buckeye State.

The presidency was not, unfortunately, what Harding thought it might be. And when the successor to Woodrow Wilson and the predecessor of Calvin Coolidge died Aug. 2, 1923, not having served quite one full term, it was as a somewhat bitter and disillusioned man.

"WG," who considered himself "just folks," discovered that the ways of "just folks" would not suffice to combat such monumental scandals as that involving naval oil stores and referred to as "Teapot Dome."

Assuming the presidency truly in "times that try men's souls," Warren G. Harding, whose inaugural address was based on the theme, "back to normalcy," discovered that all too many people wanted no part of such a program. And his apparent inability to force or persuade them to his way of thinking contributed, in large measure, to the thunder of criticism that followed his death and administration.

Charles W. Thompson, in "Presidents I Have Known," titled his chapter on Harding "Babbitt in the White House." Comparing the 29th president to Sinclair Lewis' conformist character.

The Baltimore Sun was to refer to "WG" as a "numbskull" and "the Marion stonehead." James Truslow Adams, in his "Epic of America," talked of Harding's campaigning for the presidency as "... akin to hearing the squeak of a timid field mouse after the thunder of battle had rolled away."

The year 1965 will mark the centennial of Harding's birth. As the centennial draws near, two authors are working hard on books about Harding, paying visits to Marion to glean information and try to find new material. Both authors assert the books will focus a new light of revelation, historians have waited too long.

Said Prof. Albertson: "I have thought about Harding for many years as a man much maligned, who, perhaps, perhaps not, deserved the ill reputation he received at the hands of writers who obviously had not searched Harding's record with completeness and diligence."

Both historians are hoping, if possible, to have a look at some of the Harding memorabilia currently in the possession of Mario Dr. Carl Sawyer, president of the Harding Memorial Association.

tion on the man entombed in the great white memorial on this city's south side.

Many Marion residents have met Randolph C. Downes, professor of history at Toledo University, and Dean Albertson, assistant professor of history at Brooklyn (N.Y.) College.

Prof. Downes has declared pointedly that he seeks to perform "... a scholarly appraisal of Warren G. Harding." Prof. Albertson has said that his sole aim in writing about the 29th president is "to tell the truth" about the Ohioan.

"It is a job for the historian, not the commentator, textbook writer or popularizer, to analyze and interpret Mr. Harding's life as a whole," said Prof. Downes. "Un-

Dr. Sawyer's father was Harding's personal physician, and for some time he has been cataloging letters and papers in a collection said to number many hundreds of pieces.

Prof. Albertson says flatly that his research will not be complete until he has seen this collection. He wrote:

"I can tell you this much about research on Warren G. Harding. It is like trying to piece together a 100,000-piece jigsaw puzzle because, unlike so many other projects in historical writing, no corpus of material basic to an understanding of the man himself has yet appeared. Perhaps the Harding Memorial Association papers will be such an archive. I hope so."

Dr. Sawyer has indicated his collection will indeed be released for the benefit of research on Harding, but he has declined to say when this might be.

What, precisely, does Prof. Albertson intend to say about "WG"?

"Truthfully," he says, "I don't know. Those who expect the new research to redeem Harding to his 'rightful place' alongside Abraham Lincoln will be disappointed.

"On the other hand, the prophet who proclaimed him 'the worst President in American history' are in for some surprises."

Asserted Prof. Downes: "It was the misfortune of Warren G. Harding to have been President at a time of the appearance of a new school of writers who gained acceptance with the production of what we may call muck-for-muck's sake. These literary degenerates were, for the most part, newspapermen. As such, they were a disgrace to their profession."

"There does not exist in print today even an approach to a sound biography (on Harding) based on an analysis of the source material."

What these two historians plan to have, by the centennial year of 1965, are books which may reveal Harding not as a different kind of man, but as a different kind of President.

For even Harding's harshest critics could not, and did not, altogether deny that "WG" was "kindly." What Prof. Downes and Prof. Albertson may show is that Harding was, as Herbert Hoover mused, "betrayed by a few men whom he had trusted, by men who, he had believed, were his devoted friends."

If so, one may find less credence in such writings as Nan Britton's "The Presidents' Daughters"; William Allen White's "Masks in a Pageant"; Alice Roosevelt Longworth's "Crowded 1964 CHRYSLER. Chrysler has an attractive offering of 1964 cars with special emphasis on comfortable motoring, safety and exceptional road performance. Shown is the New Yorker Sedan with a vinyl-covered roof and more than 40 extra luxury and convenience features as standard equipment, including air conditioning, a reclining front seat, adjustable head rests and auto pilot speed control. The Chrysler line consists of 16 models in three series—the New Yorker, the 300 sports car and the economical Newport. Among the new features are a seven-position vertically-adjustable steering wheel, and a four-speed floor-mounted manual transmission. For sports car rally enthusiasts, Chrysler offers the 300K as both a convertible and two-door hardtop in 1964. It is available with a standard 360 horsepower or optional 390 horsepower V8 engine with ram induction manifold.

Hours" and Samuel Hopkins Adams' "Revelry," among others.

Many historians have concluded that Warren G. Harding, was, indeed, "more a conciliator than a leader." Perhaps, in the final analysis, that could be a fair summation.

But both Prof. Albertson and Prof. Downes, in discussing their forthcoming works, leave ajar the door of possibility that the misfortune that befell the Marion man in the White House was not, by any means, simply the consequence of a monstrous inability to master the mechanics that constituted the presidency, and that the true character of Harding never really manifested itself in the nation's highest office.

6 New Television Series Made Weekend Debuts

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Six new series made their television debuts over the weekend, marking the opening of the fall season. Undoubtedly one program of great general interest was "100 Grand," a quiz show in the old tradition, which moved into ABC's schedule Sunday night.

It would be pleasant to report that the familiar sight of perspiring contestants nervously wringing their brows and finally coming up with the name of a Civil War spy was, once again, sheer delight. Unhappily, however, the whole thing—the buzzers, ominous drum beats, the clock ticking off seconds, the fast-talking quiz master, seemed a dreary, frenetic bore.

The 90-minute "Arrest and Trial," also an ABC Sunday night entry, proved a very satisfactory pair of stories involving the same central character. The situation—a tough guy mixed up in a cop killing—was familiar but the acting and the production were superior.

"Harry's Girls," a half-hour comedy about a hooper traveling around Europe with a troupe of three pretty girls—NBC's Friday night entry—was pretty thin stuff. The comedy was slight, and the plot was almost non-existent—something about Harry keeping a girl off the yacht of an Eastern potentate by forging a marriage license. It was very disappointing.

"The Lieutenant," on NBC Saturday night, is obviously designed for the young audience. This one centers on an earnest young Marine lieutenant, played by Garry Lockwood. In the opening show he was having trouble with an old pal who was a private in his platoon. It was obvious that the guy was a liar and a goldbrick, so our hero came off looking kind of stupid. If you like Annapolis and West Point movies, you'll like this.

Another ABC show, obviously designed for Sunday evening family viewing, is "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters." It's an adventure yarn set in 1840 with a 12-year-old as the central character.

Imogene Coca's "Grindl" also had its premiere show on NBC but I was busy on another channel and will catch it in a week or so.

Tonight's debuts are "The Outer Limits," ABC's series with science fiction themes (7:30-8:30 EDT) and "Breaking Point" (10-11) a series about a team of psychiatrists and their patients. In addition, ABC's "Wagon Train" returns, expanded to 90 minutes and at a new day and time spot—8:30-10. NBC plans a special news show "The Loyal Opposition," with interviews with Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller (10-10:30).

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Health Questions, Answers

Q—How long would I be justified in using an ointment in the treatment of psoriasis? I have used a recommended skin cream for two months and have noticed no improvement.

A—Your experience is not unusual. Although a great number of creams have been used to treat this disease, the response to them is uncertain at best. The fact that there are nearly 90 different creams for psoriasis in the market is proof that none of them are sure cures. If you don't notice any improvement after using an ointment for three or four weeks, you had better let your doctor prescribe another preparation.

Q—My doctor has me taking Librium and Elavil. What are they for? Can they do me any harm?

A—Your doctor is giving you these drugs for nervous tension. Chlordiazepoxide (Librium) in the dose usually given should not cause any side effects, but it should not be discontinued suddenly. When you no longer need this drug, you should gradually reduce the number of pills taken daily.

You should have your ocular tension checked twice a year while you are taking amitriptyline (Elavil), because in persons with a tendency to develop glaucoma it will aggravate this serious condition. You should also report any marked diminution in the quantity of your urine to your doctor. In most persons, however, the small doses needed to control nervous tension are harmless.

Q—My doctor says I have proctitis. What causes it and how can it be cured? Will it eventually become malignant?

A—Proctitis is a rectal inflammation. If your proctitis is acute, it may be part of an ulcerative colitis, but in this case your doctor would have said so. It sometimes does become malignant.

Other causes of proctitis are chronic mucous colitis, frequent use of laxatives, and any other cause of chronic diarrhea.

With these conditions, there is little need for you to worry about cancer. When your doctor has determined the cause, he will prescribe appropriate treatment, but a cure is not always easy to achieve.

Q—Is it safe to take Hydrodiuril tablets continually to keep my weight down? Are there bad effects?

A—The drug you are taking (hydrochlorothiazide) belongs to the group popularly called "water pills." They allow water to be eliminated from the tissues in persons who have waterlogging due to liver disease or chronic incapacity of the heart. If your doctor is giving it to you to help your heart or your liver you can take it indefinitely.

Be sure to check with him from time to time to make sure you are on the proper dose and that you are not losing too much salt along with the water.

When taken under strict medical supervision there are no bad effects. The drug has a very limited use in reducing weight in persons who do not have heart or liver disease.

Leetonia Rolls To 2nd, Rips Beaver Local 28-6

Casino Scores 2 Touchdowns

Bears Face Leopards In Loop Game Next

With a relentless running attack, Leetonia High School turned up for its initial Tri-County League action this week by trouncing Beaver Local 28-6 at the losers' stadium last Saturday.

Defending loop champion Louisville (1-1) will entertain the Bears who posted their second straight win of the season, while handing the Beavers their second loss in a row.

Featuring the one-two punch of backs Phil Cassino and Bob VanFossan, Leetonia kept to the ground and picked up 267 yards rushing.

Coach Carl Kokor saw his Leetonia aggregation try three aeri- als during the contest and com- plete two for 17 yards.

EARLY IN THE initial period, Beaver Local was in trouble twice as the result of a fumble and a blocked punt. The Beavers recovered the pigskin on the 29 and moved to the 10 before being halted.

Ron Whittington, back to punt, had his attempted kick blocked and Leetonia took over on the 10. The Bears managed to get only to the 14 where they lost the ball on downs.

Whittington's next punt was hauled in by Leetonia's VanFossan on the Bears' 46 and he dashed the distance for a touchdown, but the score was nullified be- cause of a clipping penalty, and the visitors took over at midfield.

VanFossan and Casino charged for a first down in two thrusts, then Casino scampered a round end for a touchdown that gave Leetonia a 6-0 lead with a minute and 30 seconds left in the period.

FOLLOWING AN exchange of punts late in the second session, the Bears took over on their own 23 and marched to the Beaver Local 11, where a penalty bogged down the threat and the Beavers took over on downs.

A Beavers' fumble gave Leetonia the pigskin back again on the 31. With time running out, two successive passes from Casino to Hauer made it 12-0 at intermis- sion.

Leetonia scored in the first two minutes of the third quarter as VanFossan, behind beautiful downfield blocking, sprinted 71 yards to hoist the margin to 18-0.

The Bears' tough defense forced the Beavers to punt in the fourth frame and Leetonia started its next series of offensive maneuvers from the midfield stripe.

CASINO CUT loose for runs of 17 and 24 yards, and the Bears led 26-0. VanFossan plunged for the two-point conversion.

Beaver Local got its only TD in the final frame as Norm Gaydos began hitting his receivers with uncanny accuracy. He combined with Whittington and Mike Lynn for first downs and then tossed a pass to Whittington for a 15-yard touchdown.

A Leetonia fumble gave Beaver Local another chance in the final minutes of the contest, but VanFossan intercepted a pass on the Bears' 18 to end the threat.

The two schools hit hard on de- fense, and as a result several players were shaken up on both sides. A crowd of about 2,500 watched the struggle.

The Bears picked up 10 first downs during the tilt, while lim- iting Beaver Local to 115 yards rushing and six first downs. The Beavers completed four of 10

Rhiel scored on a quarterback sneak. Randy McPhee made the two-point conversion on a thrust through the middle of the Bull- dogs' line.

Poland launched its most serious threat of the contest when it took the initial kickoff and mar- ched to the Cardinals' 10-yard line before giving up the ball on downs.

The winners advanced to Pol- and's three on one other attempt, but the threat was halted when the Cardinals failed to make enough yardage for a first down.

The Trojans then got a safety, when Joe Fahli was tackled in his own end zone.

It was the second straight loss of the season for North Lima. The Zippers travel to Leetonia for a battle with Greenford this coming Saturday.

Rockets Keep Streak Alive With 6-6 Tie

Ryan Completes 21 of 31 Aerials; Brown Scores 3

Browns Make Collier's NFL Debut A Success, Rip Washington 37-14

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer CLEVELAND (AP) — Exhibiting the exciting explosiveness which once made them the most feared team in the National Foot- ball League, the Cleveland Browns made their 1963 debut Sunday with a startling 37-14 victory over the Washington Redskins.

Blanton Collier, who succeeded deposed Paul Brown as head coach and then worried his way through a 2-3 exhibition season, was a happy man.

And he had reason for the smiles. Quarterback Frank Ryan, full- back Jim Brown, and place kick- er Lou Groza put on a star- spangled performance as the Browns avenged last year's two losses to Washington.

Some 57,618 fans, many curious as to how the team would do without their old coach at the helm, saw a scintillating spectacle. Ryan, spraying passes all over the place, completed 21 of 31 to eight different receivers for 334 yards and two touchdowns—one a four-yarder to end Bob Crespi- no to open festivities after Ohio State Sam Tidmore had recovered a fumble on the opening kickoff. The other was an 83-yarder to Brown.

Brown, seeking to regain the ground-eating title he surrendered last year after five seasons on the throne, chewed up 162 yards in 15 rushes, including one brilliant 80-yard scoring jaunt after taking a simple pitchout from Ryan. The big fullback also skirted end for 10 yards and his third score.

The first run of the game was Brown's 1,500th in the league, and he made 14 yards to set up the first score. He now has rush- ed 1,514 times for 6,621 yards, a 5-plus average. Running and pass- catching, he covered 282 yards against Washington much to the chagrin of the Redskins who got only 10 more as a team.

Groza Boots 3 Field Goals Groza went into the fray with 902 points, the league record, and added 13 for 915 with four con- versions and fields goals from 42, 24 and 39 yards. The big Martins Ferry veteran missed two others.

Bobby Mitchell, whose last min- ute pass reception for a 50-yard touchdown beat the Browns in last year's second game, came up with another beauty Sunday.

George Izo, the former Notre Dame quarterback from Barber- ton, took over as signal-caller in the place of Norman Snead in the third period after the 'Skins had halted a Brown drive to take the ball on the 1-foot line after four blasts from the 4-yard line had failed.

Izo had faded into the end zone as fast as anyone in the league, caught the ball around midfield and scampered untouched for a touchdown. The record is 99 yards, set by Washington's Frank Fil- chock-to-Andy Farkas combination in 1939 against Pittsburgh — and this one probably was a bit longer.

Brown's Punt Only Once Izo completed eight of 17 for 133 yards, and Snead connected on five of 15 for 68. Combined with the 71 yards rushing, the 'Skins netted 272 yards—far off the 543 total for the Browns. So domina- ting was the offense that the Browns punted but once.

Bears Pull Stunning Upset, Whip Packers

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer "They beat us," Jim Ringo said, the first time such a phrase had been uttered in a Green Bay Packer home dressing room in three years.

"We had nothing going," said Coach Vince Lombardi. "We couldn't even get our hands on the ball. We were lucky to get away 10-3."

That was the score by which the Chicago Bears upended the mighty Packers in the surprise of the day as the National Football League got off to its 44th season.

Otherwise, it was business as usual for such standouts as Jim Brown and Y. A. Tittle. Brown ran for 162 yards and scored three times in the Browns' 37-14 romp over Washington before 57,618 in Cleveland and bald, ol' Y. A. passed for three touchdowns and ran for another in New York's 37-28 comeback over the Colts be- fore 60,029 in Baltimore.

49ers Are Beaten 24-20 Minnesota came from behind and edged the 49ers 24-20 in San Francisco and Pittsburgh had to settle for a 21-21 tie in Philadel- phia when Lou Michaels blew a potential tie-breaking conversion in other Sunday games.

Detroit blasted the Rams 23-2 at Los Angeles and St. Louis up- set Dallas 34-7 on the Cowboys' home field in Saturday night en- counters.

In the American Football League, Houston edged Denver 20-14 and San Diego got by Boston 17-13 Saturday, and Oakland beat Buffalo 35-17 Sunday, Kansas City and New York were idle.

The big bomb was dropped in Green Bay. The powerful Packers, gunning for a third straight league title and beaten only once last season, never got untracked against the Bears' crushing de- fense.

The Bears picked off four Bart Starr passes, limited the Packer quarterback to 11 completions in 22 attempts for 73 yards and held the vaunted Packer ground game to 77 yards, 53 in 12 attempts by Jim Taylor.

Some 57,618 fans, many curious as to how the team would do without their old coach at the helm, saw a scintillating spectacle.

Ryan, spraying passes all over the place, completed 21 of 31 to eight different receivers for 334 yards and two touchdowns—one a four-yarder to end Bob Crespi- no to open festivities after Ohio State Sam Tidmore had recovered a fumble on the opening kickoff. The other was an 83-yarder to Brown.

Brown, seeking to regain the ground-eating title he surrendered last year after five seasons on the throne, chewed up 162 yards in 15 rushes, including one brilliant 80-yard scoring jaunt after taking a simple pitchout from Ryan. The big fullback also skirted end for 10 yards and his third score.

The first run of the game was Brown's 1,500th in the league, and he made 14 yards to set up the first score. He now has rush- ed 1,514 times for 6,621 yards, a 5-plus average. Running and pass- catching, he covered 282 yards against Washington much to the chagrin of the Redskins who got only 10 more as a team.

Groza Boots 3 Field Goals Groza went into the fray with 902 points, the league record, and added 13 for 915 with four con- versions and fields goals from 42, 24 and 39 yards. The big Martins Ferry veteran missed two others.

Associated Press Sports Writer "They beat us," Jim Ringo said, the first time such a phrase had been uttered in a Green Bay Packer home dressing room in three years.

"We had nothing going," said Coach Vince Lombardi. "We couldn't even get our hands on the ball. We were lucky to get away 10-3."

That was the score by which the Chicago Bears upended the mighty Packers in the surprise of the day as the National Football League got off to its 44th season.

Otherwise, it was business as usual for such standouts as Jim Brown and Y. A. Tittle. Brown ran for 162 yards and scored three times in the Browns' 37-14 romp over Washington before 57,618 in Cleveland and bald, ol' Y. A. passed for three touchdowns and ran for another in New York's 37-28 comeback over the Colts be- fore 60,029 in Baltimore.

49ers Are Beaten 24-20 Minnesota came from behind and edged the 49ers 24-20 in San Francisco and Pittsburgh had to settle for a 21-21 tie in Philadel- phia when Lou Michaels blew a potential tie-breaking conversion in other Sunday games.

Birmingham

there been a conviction.

Police estimated that 10 sticks of dynamite went into the bomb, apparently placed in a stairwell about four feet below ground level outside the building. Dynamite is not unfamiliar in Birmingham, a mining town.

The blast occurred while about 200 persons were in the church, including about 80 in basement classrooms. The explosion hurled chunks of concrete, twisted metal and shattered glass against nearby buildings. Several cars parked near the church were damaged. The street and sidewalks were so thickly covered with pieces of glass it was impossible to walk without stepping on it. Much of the glass came from windows in a nearby building—used for businesses and rental rooms.

The blast made, or rekindled, hate quickly. There were also desperate calls for love—from white and Negro leaders alike.

Crowds of Negroes gathered. Some wept, others cursed. "I wish I could get my hands on the ones that did it," several said.

Rocky Are Thrown

A few rocks were thrown, but there was no serious disorder around the church, with the police riot squad and a riot tank on hand. The Negroes dispersed when policemen fired several rounds into the air from shotguns and rifles.

There was trouble elsewhere, though.

In suburban Sandusky, 13-year-old Virgil Ware, a Negro, allegedly was shot to death by two white youngsters on a motor scooter.

Johnnie Robinson, 16, was shot and killed by police officers who said they intended to shoot over his head after he threw rocks at their car.

Two major fires broke out, both in Negro residential areas. A Negro house burned in suburban Ensley.

Boutwell, the mayor, wept when he learned of the bombing. He had been seeking racial peace since he took office in May after defeating staunch segregationist Eugene (Bull) Connor.

Gov. Wallace said in a statement: "The entire forces of the state will be utilized to maintain law and order." He said he hoped the bombers were caught, and offered a $5,000 reward.

'Rocky'

electd" he said.

Goldwater stuck to his position that he won't make up his mind until January about seeking the nomination.

Rockefeller set an earlier timetable. He said in the television interview he would announce his decision before the end of this year—perhaps in November.

Property Damage, Thefts Reported

Two cases of theft and two of property damage were reported to the city police department over the weekend.

Ray Schell of 135 W. Pershing St. said his two female Collie-Scottie pups, "Princess" and "Jojo" were stolen along with their collars and chain Saturday morning between 2:30 and 7:30 from his back porch. "Princess" is black with a white forehead and her sister, tan.

Someone stole the transmission, valued at between $300 and $400, from the car of Kenneth Miller after he parked it across the street from his house at 310 Vine St. Saturday night at 11:30.

Rudy and Gus Falk of the Falk Brothers Sunoco Service Station on S. Lincoln said a car struck and damaged one of the gas pumps there late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

The discovery of damage to a garage owned by Matt Klein at 1000 Newgarden St. was reported to police by Klein's brother, Andrew, 284 S. Madison. Someone broke down the wooden door on the south side of the garage, but it has not been determined if property was stolen.

Mishap

p.m. on Route 165, about a mile north of the Beloit village limits. The Canfield patrol said Robert A. Crum, 19, of 637 Cherry St., Salem, was driving south on the Beloit-Saunders Rd. Another car, whose driver is unknown, was halted for a stop sign, then pulled out in front of Crum's vehicle. Crum swerved off the right side of the road and plowed into a ditch trying to avoid hitting the other car. The front end of the Salem youth's car was heavily damaged.

In five other weekend traffic mishaps the Lisbon post cited five motorists, including two juveniles.

Cited into Juvenile Court were Allan Porter, 16, of RD 3, Lisbon, and Stephen Williams 16, of East Liverpool both of whom were in one-car mishaps. Porter hit a guard rail Sunday morning at 1:30 when his car went off the pavement of Route 170 about 10 miles south of East Palestine. Williams also struck a guard rail Sunday at 2:15 p.m. on County Rd. 424, a mile west of Route 30.

Broda McCoy, 20, of Chester, W. Va., was cited for failure to yield the right of way at an intersection after his car collided with another at 5:50 p.m. Saturday on Route 267, two miles north of East Liverpool. McCoy pulled from a county road into the path of a car driven by Eugene Baker, 46, of East Liverpool, the patrol said.

Donald Davis, 28, of East Liverpool was cited for driving left of center after he rounded a curve at high speed and lost control of his auto which overturned Sunday at 3:50 p.m. on Route 170, about five miles south of Route 154.

A charge of speed excessive for conditions was lodged against Raymond Booher, 21, of Beaver Falls, Pa., after he lost control of his vehicle Sunday at 3:25 a.m. and hit an embankment on Route 170, a half mile south of East Palestine.

Test Pact

come, I fear, only from data collected after a full-scale nuclear war between the United States and the Soviet Union." Sparkman added.

On two of the major points raised by Sen. Smith, Sparkman quoted testimony by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

"The absence from our arsenal of a bomb greater than the one we can build under the treaty will not impair the effectiveness of our strategic forces," Sparkman said.

"Even after a Soviet strike the total surviving U.S. strategic nuclear force will be large enough to destroy the enemy."

He added that supporters recognized "there are risks in this treaty."

Also speaking in favor of the treaty was Sen. Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., who said that the "mother's vote" supports the treaty as a method for curbing radioactive fallout. But she denied this support was based on sentimentality or a lack of concern for national security.

The 11 senators who told The Associated Press they were not yet ready to announce positions included six Democrats and five Republicans.

EXTINGUISH BLAZE

LISBON—Village firemen were called Saturday at 6:20 p.m. to the Columbiana County fair grounds where straw in the sheep barn caught fire and damaged two stalls. Firemen estimated the damage at $50.

Plant Worker Still 'Fair' After Blast

Clyde Risbeck, 48-year-old Leetonia man who was burned in an explosion late Friday night at the Mullins Manufacturing Corp. plant remains in fair condition at Salem Central Clinic.

Risbeck received second and third degree burns of the hands, arms and abdomen when fire broke out from some undetermined cause, possibly an electrical ignition, in an electrostatic spray booth which automatically paints kitchen cabinets.

Meanwhile at the plant, operations are returning to normal after severe water damage on the third floor where the fire broke out and on the second and first floors. Hundreds of gallons of water from five automatic sprinkler heads and from additional water applied by the fire department soaked the third floor and worked its way through the walls to carlons on the floor below and to office furniture on the ground floor.

Workmen had to cut holes through the first floor to let the water escape to the basement.

Henry H. Clarkson, public relations director, said it was feared earlier that records may have been damaged, but an inspection showed they were safe from harm.

The spray booth where the fire broke out was scheduled to be back in operation today, Clarkson said. Damage from actual flames was negligible.

Political Lotteries Hit by Minister

Rev. T.G.S. Whitney, rector of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour, in a sermon Sunday referred to lotteries conducted by area political parties as "political immorality" resulting from the public's defaulting in its responsibility.

The Rev. Whitney said he had been reliably informed of the sale of tickets on a costly prize to be given at a drawing in a nearby community this week.

The minister also cited a recent mailing of Democratic party letters containing a solicitation for donations and promising the donor tickets on a prize worth $1,000 on receipt of the contribution.

The minister said these were examples of the "moral and ethical irresponsibility which infects today's political system at all levels and in both parties."

Catholic church, escorted in and out by a platoon of reporters and photographers.

It wasn't far away from birth-day time for any of the three youngsters. Julie was 6 Sunday, Charlotte will be 7 Wednesday and Danny will be 8 Oct. 5. The other Fischer children are Evelyn, 4, and Denise, 3.

While the father and Dr. Berbos were busy with periodic news conferences in the hospital cafeteria Sunday, Mrs. Fischer rested in her third-floor room and tried to think of names for the four girls. They all were named Mary but have no second names. The boy was named James Andrew.

Roman Catholic Bishop Lambert A. Hoch chartered a plane from Sioux Falls Saturday to baptize and confirm the quints as they lay in their Isolettes, kept comfortable by controlled heat, humidity and oxygen.

Quintuplets occur only about once in 42 million births. Of the three previous quintuple births in the United States, none of the children survived infancy.
